In the Our Mythical Childhood project (ERC Grant 681202), an international team surveys the reception of classical antiquity in global children's culture. The survey is open-access, online, searchable, and tagged, and has so far gathered information of more than 500 items. It represents a unique collaborative approach, combining public-facing research, with opportunities for junior and senior researchers from around the world. It can be accessed through

I will talk about my experiences in developing this project, and showcase the opportunities it presents for research contributions.

Everyone welcome
